

IMPACT REPORT

A message from our founder

On a Monday this past April, I arrived to a school to perform an EcoHero assembly and was told that the principal of that school had lost her battle with cancer the Friday prior to my visit. That was a first. Obviously, the mood from staff and students was abysmal upon shuffling into the auditorium. I wanted to run away and not perform for that crowd. However, one of my heroes, Tim Ferriss, says that “service” to the world can be as simple as putting a smile on people’s faces. For at least a moment during that 40 minute show, I like to think that all of the students and staff smiled and were able to enjoy something. All of your sponsorships are not only allowing us to empower and educate students on eco topics, but they allow moments of joy and service to the world. Thank you, thank you, thank you for your support!

Love, Brett “Mr. Eco” Edwards and The EcoHero Team!
